

Pivotal tracker:

As you can see the only card we have left on this was the unit tests which we agree we don't have sufficient coverage to call complete. However it should be noted that we pushed really hard to complete a good amount of cards for the final deliverables.

There were a few cards in the backlog and icebox that we didn't touch but those are tertiary items that were not required within this project.